Introduction

SuperCamps offers a wide range of activity and specialist programmes across the UK during the school holidays for children aged 3-14.

Aim

- SuperCamps aims to teach new skills, enhance children's creativity, socialisation, confidence and resilience through extra-curricular experiences in safe and secure environments.
- Activities such as sports, team games, outdoor exploration, arts and crafts and LEGO® challenges underpin the 'FUNdamentals' that make memorable camp experiences for the children in our care.

Commitment

SuperCamps

- has statutory and moral duties to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and young people engaged in its activities
- believes that all students have the right to be protected from abuse, exploitation, extremism and radicalisation
- aims to ensure that proprietors, employees and volunteers comply with legal, contractual and professional standards and responsibilities in their work with children. This includes high quality record keeping and record management
- strives to build and embed a culture of openness that recognises and accepts that abuse can happen in this organisation
- believes that pro-active safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children is everyone's responsibility.

All children have the right

- To be safe; no one should take this right away from them.
- To protect their own bodies; their body belongs to them.
- To say no; it is alright to say no to someone if that person tries to do something to them that they feel is wrong.
- To get help against bullies; tell children to enlist the help of friends, to say no without fighting and to tell an adult.
- To tell; assure children that no matter what happens staff will not be angry with them should report any incident that frightens or confuses them or makes them unhappy.
- To be believed; when children are told to go to an adult for help, they need to know they will be believed and supported.
- Not to keep secrets; teach children that some secrets should never be kept, even if they promised the abuser not to tell.

Super Camps endeavours to safeguard children and staff by:

- Promoting and prioritising the safety and wellbeing of children.
- Adopting child protection guidelines through effective procedures and a staff code of conduct.
- Ensuring appropriate action is taken in the event of incidents/concerns of abuse and that support is provided to all parties.

- Following carefully the procedures for safer recruitment and selection of staff.
- Providing effective management for the staff through supervision, support and training.
- Sharing information about child protection and good practice with children, parents and care givers, staff and any relevant third parties.
- Sharing information about concerns with the agencies who need to know and involving parents and children appropriately.
- Reviewing our policy and best practice at regular intervals.

Terminology

A child: The legal definition of a child in the UK is a person under the age of 18.

Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children is defined for the purposes of this guidance as:

- Protecting children from maltreatment e.g. abuse and neglect
- Preventing impairment of children's physical health and/or mental health, or development;
- Ensuring that children grow up in circumstances consistent with the provision of
- Safe and effective care
- Taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes.

(Working Together to Safeguard Children, Updated 2020)

Safeguarding is what is done to prevent harm

Child protection is an integral part of the safeguarding process. It focuses on protecting individual children identified as suffering from or likely to be at risk of significant harm (Working Together to Safeguard Children, Updated 2020). Child protection is the response to harm.

Abuse: A form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm (commission), or by failing to act to prevent harm (omission). Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others (e.g. via the internet). They may be abused by one adult, or adults, or another child or group of children (Working Together to Safeguard Children, Updated 2020)

Principles

Every member of staff must:

- accept that the well-being of children is of paramount importance
- have a child-centred approach and always consider what is in the best interests for the safety of the child
- read and understand this policy and the procedures being aware of their responsibilities and duty of care
- understand that one person, or organisation, cannot have a complete picture of a child's needs, therefore Local Safeguarding Partners like the local authority, health and the police, have a role in identifying concerns, sharing information and taking prompt action
- complete the safeguarding induction and training, read and understand updates and be able to recognise signs of potential abuse and neglect
- undertake training and professional development to ensure that they offer quality learning and development opportunities for children

- undertake first aid training for the specific to the age range of their children and activities
- all allegations of serious abuse or harm by any person living with, working with or looking after children, as well as serious accidents, illnesses and injuries will be reported which is a legal requirement
- be vigilant and act on any suspicions about the treatment of a child (this is a legal responsibility)
- be aware of the procedure to follow if a child discloses information to them
- raise concerns or suspicions (including low level concerns) immediately with their Designated Safeguarding Lead for appropriate action to be taken, even if there is no clear disclosure
- staff member should make a written record of the incident as soon as possible
- be suitable people to work with children and any significant event likely to affect their suitability will be reported to Ofsted and the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO)
- behave appropriately, inappropriate behaviour should be reported to the Designated Safeguarding Lead
- be aware of procedures for confidentiality and for sharing and receiving information, including the need for reporting and recording, on CPOMS (Child Protection Online Monitoring System)
- have access to the safeguarding procedures and essential contact telephone numbers
- stay calm, think logically, use their professional judgment and seek advice.

Safer Recruitment

We prioritise embedding a culture of safer recruitment as part of our strategy for preventing harm to children. Please see our Safer Recruitment Policy in our Appendices.

Responsibilities

The Proprietors and all staff of SuperCamps know that safeguarding is everyone's responsibility. Each individual in their role will:

- Proactively teach students about safeguarding
- Ensure that systems and procedures are in place to protect students
- Always act in the best interests for the safety of the child

Proprietors & Board

They must be accountable for safeguarding by

- ensuring that SuperCamps has appropriate structures, processes and resources so that safeguarding is central to the organisation's practice
- maintaining oversight of safeguarding issues through regular reports
- appointing a lead safeguarding board member who will receive meeting papers and other relevant documents that will enable them to report on their assessment of safeguarding
- receiving an annual report, commissioning specific audits into areas causing concern.

Group Managing Director

The Group Managing Director is the most senior accountable person for all aspects of safeguarding in the Active Learning Group of organisations. The group also has a Safeguarding Adviser (Natasha Keating, who is the Head of Safeguarding for the Active Learning Group which SuperCamps sits within). SuperCamps has a Managing Director that also acts as the Designated Senior Person (DSP). Collectively they must ensure that:

- There is a strong culture of safeguarding across the organisation

- There are clear structures, processes, line management and resources to safeguard children at risk
- Senior leaders/directors are held to account for safeguarding
- They receive regular updates about safeguarding matters.

Designated Safeguarding Lead

A Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) and deputies should be appointed. The Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) must be a member of the senior leadership team who will take responsibility for safeguarding and child protection in the organisation. This should be reflected in their job description.

The Group's Head of Safeguarding is the person of contact following the brand's chosen DSL. The Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) must decide on out-of-hours and out-of-term contact e.g. via telephone or Skype.

The key functions are to:

- Ensure that the safeguarding and child protection policy is in place and accessible to staff, parents/carers and schools
- Ensure that camps operate in line with safeguarding legislation
- Be the point of contact for staff, children, parents/carers about any concerns regarding children's welfare
- Manage referrals by referring cases, supporting staff to refer cases
- Work with others by liaising with the most senior person in the business, the Managing Director, the "case manager" and staff. Liaise with safeguarding partners and other agencies
- Receive formal training for safeguarding including Prevent and online safety, keep updated with relevant developments
- Attendance at training courses and safeguarding conferences
- Raise awareness by ensuring that with the safeguarding policy and procedures are easily accessible to staff, parents and the public and that staff understand the contents
- Ensure safeguarding training for seasonal staff is renewed and kept up to date
- Develop and encourage a culture of listening and reducing barriers to disclosure
- Lead responsibility for web filtering and monitoring
- When using a school or college premises the DSL should ensure there are arrangements in place for SuperCamps to liaise with the school or college on safeguarding matters where appropriate, regardless of the child is not on roll at the school.

Deputy Designated Safeguarding Leads

They support their Designated Safeguarding Lead and are trained to the same level. Their responsibilities should be reflected in their job description.

Safeguarding on site

Each SuperCamps venue has a Designated Safeguarding Person on site, this is normally the Camp Manager. The Camp Manager is then supported by the Head Office Safeguarding Team- 01235 467300 (Opt 5).

Where a child is suffering, or is likely to suffer from harm, it is important that a referral to children's Social Care (and, if appropriate, the Police) is made immediately by the DSL, who should follow the local authority's referral process. If the DSL is not available then there should be no delay in another safeguarding staff member in the school making a referral.

Those with governance oversight e.g. The Board member, European Director of Education and GMs should also be aware of their obligations under the Human Rights Act 1998 and the Equality Act 2010.

Human Rights Act 1998

The Human Rights Act 1998 (HRA) sets out the fundamental rights and freedoms that everyone in the UK is entitled to and contains the Articles and protocols of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) (the Convention) that are deemed to apply in the UK. It compels public organisations to respect and protect an individual's human rights when they make individual decisions about them. Under the HRA, it is unlawful to act in a way that is incompatible with the Convention.

At SuperCamps we

- Must not unlawfully discriminate against attendees because of their protected characteristics.
- Must consider how they are supporting attendees with protected characteristics.
- Must take positive action, where proportionate, to deal with the disadvantages these attendees face. For example, by making reasonable adjustments for disabled children and supporting girls if there is evidence that they are being disproportionately subjected to sexual violence or harassment.

Further information (including on absolute and qualified rights) can be found at Human Rights | Equality and Human Rights Commission \(equalityhumanrights.com\).

Equality Act 2010

According to the Equality Act, we do not unlawfully discriminate against attendees because of their sex, race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, or sexual orientation (protected characteristics).

Provisions within the Equality Act requires us to take positive action, where it can be shown that it is proportionate, to deal with particular disadvantages affecting pupils with a particular protected characteristic in order to meet their specific need, this includes a duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled children and young people, including those with long term conditions. For example, consider taking positive action to support girl if there was evidence they were being disproportionately subjected to sexual violence or sexual harassment.

For further information Equality Act guidance | Equality and Human Rights Commission \(equalityhumanrights.com\).

Training

Full-time staff must

- Complete safeguarding training and refresh it at least every two years enabling them to recognise signs of abuse
- Report all allegations of serious abuse or harm by anyone living with or looking after children as well as serious accidents, illnesses and injuries sustained by any child in SuperCamps care
- Know who concerns or suspicions should be referred to
- Be aware of the procedure to follow if a child discloses information to them regarding abuse, neglect, extremism or radicalisation.

Seasonal staff must

- Complete the online safeguarding training and the knowledge test achieving at least 80%. This is renewed annually.
- Report all allegations of serious abuse or harm by anyone living with or looking after children as well as serious accidents, illnesses and injuries sustained by any child in SuperCamps care.
- Be aware of the reporting lines within SuperCamps
- Have an understanding and be able to report concerns using CPOMS.

This policy has been developed in accordance with the following documents:

- Working Together To Safeguard Children, Updated 2020
- Cognita Safeguarding And Child Protection Policy And Procedure, 2021
- Ofsted Inspection Framework 2019

This policy is updated annually. Staff are encouraged to comment on the contents based on their use of it and the effectiveness.

SAFEGUARDING PROCEDURES

If a child tells a member of staff that they have been abused or neglected, or if the member of staff is concerned about unmet need, they should:

- Make the child's welfare the focus.
- Be child-centred, use language appropriate for their age and stage of Development.
- Listen carefully and actively, allowing the child to speak at their own pace. Take account of their age, culture, language, communication skills and any disabilities.
- Do not interrupt or be afraid of silences.
- Not show any signs of shock as it may discourage the child from talking. Avoid comments like "I wish you had told me this earlier", "I cannot believe what I am hearing".
- Do not ask any leading questions such as "how hard were you hit"
- Remain calm.
- Encourage with reassuring nods and comments like "I am so sorry that this has happened", "you are doing the right thing talking to me".
- Gather as much detail as they can around the context whilst not fully investigating (this is the role of the partner agencies – social care and the Police). If clarification is required ask open questions like "tell me", "describe", "explain", "what", "when", "where", "who", or "how". However, a context around what the child has said should always be sought prior to any referral being made to partner agencies. This should be done by the DSL or the staff member who obtained the initial disclosure. Limit questioning to the minimum necessary for clarification using What, When, How and Where.
- Not ask "why" as it can suggest guilt. Do not ask if it has happened to siblings but do ask if there are any siblings, their ages and gender.

- Ask if there is anything else that the child would like to tell you.
- If abuse is disclosed, ask whether other adults observed the abuse and whether it has happened before.
- Never promise to keep it a secret, explain that it will be referred in confidence e.g. “I am really concerned about what you have told me and I have a responsibility to make sure that you are safe”.
- Explain what will happen next. The child may wish to accompany you to see the Camp Manager. If not, let them know that someone will see them before the end of the day. Check that this happens and check to see how the child is.

Should there be a concern about a child:

1. the Activity Instructor/Early Years Practitioner notify the Camp Manager or SuperClubs Manager of their concerns. If you are unable to contact them, contact the Head Office Group Safeguarding Team directly. If they are not available, contact Active Learning Groups Head Of Safeguarding directly (07912291197). There should be no delay.
2. the Camp Manager/Club Regional Manager notifies the Main Office team that a concern has been raised
3. the Head Office create the child on CPOMS
4. the Activity Instructor/Early Years Practitioner input their concern onto CPOMS with the support of the Camp Manager/Club Regional Manager as soon as possible. As far as possible try to note the child’s language
5. the Main Office team or Club Regional Manager inputs next actions for the Camp Manager on CPOMS
6. the Camp Manager completes the actions assigned to them, and feeds back to the Activity Instructor/Early Years Practitioner that the concern has been managed
7. the Main Office team or Club Regional Manager makes any necessary referrals to Social Care/Police and feeds backs to the Camp Manager next steps. The Main Office team inform the Managing Director and Head Of Safeguarding of case. The rationale for the Main Office managing more complex cases is that Camp Managers are seasonal workers and the permanent Main Office team may needs to have ongoing involvement in the case once the season has ended.
8. the Main Office team or Club Regional Manager inform the child’s school DSL/Head of concerns raised and actions taken due to their role permanency.
9. SuperCamps Managing Director and Active Learning Group’s Head of Safeguarding are to be kept informed of all referrals and actions via CPOMS.

Should there be a concern about staff conduct

1. the staff member who has the concern should write a Low Level Concern form and pass it to their Camp Manager within 1 hour
2. if the concern is about the Camp Manager, then the concern must be passed to the Main Office and Head Of Safeguarding
3. if the concern is about a member of the Main Office team, then the concern must be passed to the Managing Director who will notify the Head Of Safeguarding

In most cases the Main Office team, Head Of Safeguarding, Managing Director and HR will convene a meeting within an hour of the concern initially arising. The Consultant Advisor for Cognita should be invited.

Low Levels Concern form will be uploaded by the person in receipt e.g. Camp Manager and all actions to be logged on CPOMS until closed by the Head Of Safeguarding for ALG.

Please see appendix for flow charts.

If a child is thought to be at risk of harm or likely to be

- A referral should be made immediately to Children's Social Care or the police if a criminal act has occurred or there is imminent danger to a child/other
- The Designated Safeguarding Lead would usually do this, under the guidance of the Head of Safeguarding, but any member of staff can make contact. It is important not to delay. Parental consent is not required to make referrals to statutory agencies where harm is alleged. Do not inform the parents/carers/alleged perpetrator of the harm unless told to do so by Child Protective Services. To do this too early could heighten the risk of further harm to the child.
- A record must be made of the decision that was reached and the reason, what action was taken by whom including dates and times.

Reporting a concern

- Make a note of your concern as soon as possible.
- Inform the Camp Manager/Club Regional Manager of your concern. The Camp Manager/Club Regional Manager will then inform the DSL or DDSL who will speak to the relevant staff member regarding the concern.
- DSL to contact local Children's Social Care Team
- DSL to inform the Head Office Safeguarding Team
- Referrals being made out-of-hours should be made in the same way via the out-of-hours service.
- DSL to follow social care guidance on referral.
- CPOMS to be updated, and company's Senior Designated Person to be informed a referral has taken place.
- If this has been done without parental consent a note should be made of this with the reasons and the date.

What to expect from the local authority

- Child Protective Services should respond within 24 hours of receiving the referral and acknowledge receipt, the reporting person should request the name of the staff member they have spoken to and record this
- If no response is received, contact them again (ensuring you also log a record of your attempts to contact them on CPOMS).
- If the response is not adequate, and/or not achieved in a timely manner i.e. the child is due to go home and you consider there to be a risk of harm, in discussion with the Designated Safeguarding Lead and/or Head Office Safeguarding Team(ALG) and /or Consultant Safeguarding Adviser (ALG), a decision should be made about whether to escalate the matter the Social Care Team Manager.

If the child has unmet needs

- If the child is not at risk of harm, they could be a Child In Need (see appendix) and have unmet needs. A referral should be made to Child Protective Services who will make the decisions about whether to conduct an assessment of the child's needs
- Ideally parental consent should be sought although it is not a requirement for referrals to statutory agencies. Parents/carers are to be informed of the referral in line with current GDPR legislation for Children in Need.

If there is a concern or allegation against a member of staff (by a child/other member or staff or parent)

Low Level concerns

The term 'low-level' concern does not mean that it is insignificant, it means that the behaviour towards a child does not meet the threshold for an allegation (see below). A low-level concern is any concern – no matter how small, and even if no more than causing a sense of unease or a 'nagging doubt' - that an adult working with or within our organisation (teachers, visitors, staff etc) may have acted in a way that:

- is inconsistent with the staff Code of Conduct, including inappropriate conduct outside of work, and
- does not meet the allegations threshold (LADO) or is otherwise not considered serious enough to consider a referral to the Designated Officer.

Examples of such behaviour could include, but are not limited to:

- being over friendly with children;
- having favourites;
- engaging with a child on a one-to-one basis in a secluded area or behind a closed door; or,
- using inappropriate sexualised, intimidating or offensive language.

Such behaviour can exist on a wide spectrum, from the inadvertent or thoughtless, or behaviour that may look to be inappropriate, but might not be in specific circumstances, through to that which is ultimately intended to enable abuse.

These are called Low Level Concerns and should be reported verbally to SuperCamps Designated Safeguarding Lead and/or Head of Safeguarding for the Active Learning Group, the same day. A low level concerns form should be completed and emailed to the above (see appendices) which will be stored on CPOMS and the hard copy disposed of securely once uploaded. A decision should be made with the DSL and the Head of Safeguarding that it is a low level concern and should not be reclassified as an allegation and dealt with under the appropriate 'allegations' procedure (outlined below).

If there are concerns about a DSL, these should be reported to the Active Learning Group's Head of Safeguarding or the SuperCamps Managing Director. The DSL or deputy should record all low-level concerns. Records should include the details of the concern, how the concern arose, and the actions taken.

Having established that the concern is low level, the DSL or Head of Safeguarding as appropriate will discuss it with the individual who has raised it and will take any other steps to investigate it as necessary. Most low level concerns by their very nature are likely to be minor and will be dealt with by means of management guidance, training, etc. The person to which the low level concern relates must be informed of any concern raised about them once all risk has been identified and assessed. This will be allocated to the line manager or Designated Safeguarding Lead. The person who has raised the low level concern about their colleague will remain anonymous as much as possible.

No record will be made of the concern on the individual's personnel file unless either:

- a) the concern (or group of concerns) has been reclassified as an allegation; or
- b) the concern (or group of concerns) is sufficiently serious to result in formal action under Super Camps grievance, capability or disciplinary procedure.

SuperCamps want to create an environment where staff are encouraged and feel confident to self-refer if they have found themselves in a situation which might be misinterpreted, or they have behaved in a way that falls below professional standards. They do this by completing a self-referral form and passing this on to the DSL/Head of Safeguarding for Active Learning Group.

Allegations

Allegations represent situations that might indicate a person would pose a risk of harm to children if they continue to work in regular or close contact with children in their present position, or in any capacity. This policy now refers to agency staff on site (including supply teachers)

- behaved in a way that has harmed a child, or may have harmed a child;
- possibly committed a criminal offence against or related to a child; or
- behaved towards a child or children in a way that indicates he or she may pose a risk of harm to children.
- behaved or may have behaved in a way that indicates they may not be suitable to work with children (potential transfer of risk)
- Report your concerns immediately and verbally to the Designated Senior Person, and/or the Designated Safeguarding Lead, and/or the Human Resource Officer/Manager. They will discuss together what needs to be done immediately to protect children and young people, and whether the concerns are sufficient to contact the Designated Officer (LADO) in order to have an 'initial discussion' (see below). The Group Head Office Safeguarding Team must inform the Group Managing Director of any allegations made against staff, and decisions must be made in regards to whether the staff member should be formally suspended whilst investigations are ongoing.
- The adult about whom the allegation has been made should not be informed until initial decisions have been made to reduce or eliminate any risk of harm.
- If the allegation is about the Company or Managing Director, it should be referred to the Group Managing Director immediately who will contact the Local Authority Designated Officer, the Head of HR and the Consultant Safeguarding Adviser. This should be done without informing the Company or Managing Director.
- This process is the same regardless of where or when the alleged abuse occurred.
- In the case of historic abuse, the Police should be informed.
- Support should be provided for the child who had made the disclosure.
- The staff member, including volunteers, will be given a named contact for the period of their suspension, if that is the decision, and should be supported during that time.
- Such allegations of abuse should be dealt with as quickly as possible whilst ensuring that the child is well protected.

In some circumstances we will have to consider an allegation against an individual not directly employed by SuperCamps, where its disciplinary procedures do not fully apply, for example, agency staff provided by an employment agency or business. Whilst SuperCamps are not the employer of agency staff, they should ensure allegations are dealt with properly (KCSIE 2021). Decisions will need to be made in discussion with the agency as to whether it is appropriate to suspend the member of staff, or redeploy whilst they carry out their investigation. Agencies should be fully involved and co-operate in any enquiries from the LADO, police and/or children's social services

The agency will usually take the lead, but because agencies do not have direct access to children or other members of staff, they will not be able to collect the facts when an allegation is made, nor do they have all the relevant information required by the LADO as part of the referral process. Agency staff, whilst not employed by SuperCamps are under the supervision, direction and control of the SuperCamps when working on camp. They should be advised to contact their trade union representative if they have one, or a colleague for support. The allegations management meeting which is often arranged by the LADO should address issues such as information sharing, to ensure that any previous concerns or allegations known to the agency are taken into account during the investigation. When using an agency, SuperCamps will inform the agency of its process for managing allegations. This should include inviting the agency's human resource manager or equivalent to meetings and keeping them up to date with information about its policies.

When SuperCamps are using a school or college premises, the DSL has a responsibility to report any safeguarding issues to the relevant staff from the establishment to allow the establishment to follow their safeguarding policies and procedures in the event of an allegation.

Allegations against a member of staff who is no longer working on camp should be referred to the police. Historical allegations of abuse should also be referred to the Police.

It is essential that any allegation of abuse made against a teacher or other member of staff or volunteer is dealt with very quickly, in a fair and consistent way that provides effective protection for the child and, at the same time, supports the person who is the subject of the allegation.

Dealing with the allegation

Initial discussion

- If the allegation is against the Designated Senior Person or a senior member of staff, the Operations Director will usually be the Case Manager (see above).
- If the allegation is against another staff member, Head Office DSL and SuperCamps Managing Director will usually be the Case Managers. The Group Managing Director will be kept informed throughout.
- The Case Manager and Local Authority Designated Officer will discuss the nature, content and context of the allegation and agree what action will be taken. The Local Authority Designated Officer might want more information.
- If the initial sharing of information leads to a conclusion that there should be no further action, both the Case Manager and the Local Authority Designated Officer should record it in their respective files and agree what to write, and who will do it, to the person against whom the allegation was made.
- There should be an agreement about if any action should be taken against the person who made the allegation.

Strategy discussion

- If there is a suspicion that a child has been harmed or is at risk of being significantly harmed, a 'Strategy Discussion' will be convened by the Local Authority Designated Officer and/or the Police. Children's Social Care will be involved. The Case Manager may or may not be invited to this meeting. They must not inform the alleged perpetrator until the Strategy Discussion has taken place and there is an agreement about what can be disclosed.
- If it is decided that the concerns do not reach threshold for a statutory investigation, the Local Authority Designated Officer will determine what should happen next e.g. no further action, internal investigation by ALG

Internal investigation

- If further enquires are needed, the Local Authority Designated Officer will agree with the Case Manager who is best placed to be the Internal Investigator (usually a senior member of staff) to undertake the investigation and how.

- The HR manager should arrange for the member of staff to whom the allegation has been made to be interviewed about the matter. This should take place in a neutral setting, and a minute taker should be provided. The investigation which may potentially also involve taking statements from children and other staff, again using a minute taker for the latter. Parents must be asked for consent, prior to their child being interviewed. The Case Manager will keep the Managing Director informed at all times. All staff to be interviewed must be given reasonable notice of any pending interview and allowed to have a representative attend with them.
- A safeguarding investigation takes precedence over a grievance or disciplinary matter and should be completed first.

Suspension of an employee

- All options to avoid suspension will be considered before taking this step.
- Consideration should be given to the risk of harm and well-being of the child concerned. If the Case Manager is concerned about the welfare of other children in the community or the member of staff's family, the Local Authority Designated Officer should be notified.
- Suspension has to be agreed with the Group Managing Director. A member of staff should not be automatically suspended and all other options should be considered.
- The Case Manager should check the views of the Local Authority Designated Officer, Child Protective Services and the Police, as appropriate but ultimately it is the group MD's decision.
- Other considerations could include redeployment to supervised work with children, moving to a different organisation in the Group.
- If the staff member is suspended, written confirmation should be sent within a working day setting out the reasons for the suspension. A named contact with their details should be given to provide support.
- The accused person will be advised to contact a colleague or friend for support.
- They will also be given information about the employee support service.
- The accused will be kept informed about the progress of their case.
- Social contact should not be prevented.
- The Case Manager should use their professional judgment and seek advice from the Designated Officer about whether it is appropriate to inform parents and carers of the allegation, the progress of the case, or the outcome. If the decision is to share any information, parents must be made aware of the need for confidentiality.

For all of the areas listed below if there is a child causing concern because they have been harmed or are at risk of significant harm, the matter should be discussed with the Designated Safeguarding Lead and/or Head Office Safeguarding Team to agree an appropriate course of action. A record of the concern should be made on CPOMS with a note of the discussion and outcome with the Designated Safeguarding Lead; note times and dates.

Grooming

Grooming is the process by which an individual prepares a child, significant adults and the environment for abuse of this child. Children and young people can be groomed online or in the real world, by a stranger or by someone they know. Groomers may be of any gender identity or sexual orientation. They could be of any age, including another young person. Many children and young people do not understand that they have been groomed, or that what has happened is abuse. The signs that a child is being groomed are not always obvious. Groomers will also go to great lengths not to be identified.

Children may:

- have older boyfriends or girlfriends;
- have access to drugs and alcohol;
- display behavioural changes;
- present as suicidal, self/harming, feeling depressed, unworthy.

In older children, signs of grooming can easily be mistaken for 'normal' teenage behaviour, but you may notice unexplained changes in behaviour or personality, or inappropriate sexual behaviour for their age. See the NSPCC website for further information about grooming.

Modus operandi of grooming

In order for staff to be aware of potential grooming, they should be aware of the typical behaviours displayed by abusers

- Target vulnerable victim: Perpetrators target victims who are vulnerable, isolated, insecure and/or have greater emotional needs.
- Gain victim's trust: Offenders may allow a child to do something (e.g. eat ice cream, stay up late, view pornography) which is not normally permitted by the child's parents or the school in order to foster secrecy.
- Gain the trust of others: Institutional offenders are often popular with children and parents, successfully grooming not only the victim but also other members of the victim's family and the community at large.
- Filling a need/becoming more important to the child: This can involve giving gifts, rewards, additional help or advice, favouritism, special attention and/or opportunities for special trips or outings.
- Isolating the child: The perpetrator may encourage dependency and subtly undermine the victim's other relationships with friends or family members.
- Sexualising the relationship: This can involve playful touches, tickling and hugs. It may involve adult jokes and innuendo or talking as if adults, for example about marital problems or conflicts.
- Maintaining control and secrecy: Offenders may use their professional position to make a child believe that they have no choice but to submit to the offender.

Contextual Safeguarding

Contextual Safeguarding is an approach to understanding, and responding to, young people's experiences of significant harm beyond their families. It recognises that the different relationships that young people form in their neighbourhoods, schools and online can feature violence and abuse. Parents and carers have little influence over these contexts, and young people's experiences of extra-familial abuse can undermine parent-child relationships. Staff should consider the importance of understanding intra familial harms and any necessary support for siblings following incidents of child-on-child abuse, including sexual harassment and/or violence

The contextual safeguarding approach says that children's social care practitioners, child protection systems and wider safeguarding partnerships need to engage with individuals and sectors who do have influence over/within extra-familial contexts, and recognise that assessment of, and intervention with, these spaces are a critical part of safeguarding practices. Contextual Safeguarding, therefore, expands the objectives of child protection systems in recognition that young people are vulnerable to abuse beyond their front doors.

See Annex B of KCSIE 2021 for more information.

Child on child Abuse

Staff should be aware that peers are capable of abusing their peers.

It is any form of physical, sexual, emotional, financial abuse or coercive control exercised between children in their relationships (intimate and non-intimate), friendships and wider peer groups. Different forms include but are not limited to serious bullying, cyberbullying, relationship abuse, domestic violence and abuse, child sexual exploitation, youth violence, harmful sexual behaviour, prejudice-based violence including, gender-based violence. Online peer-on-peer abuse e.g. sexting, online abuse, coercion, exploitation, peer-on-peer grooming, threatening language, distribution of sexualised content, and harassment. To protect children a “contextual safeguarding” approach (see below) is often taken which means safeguarding takes account of a child’s experience of harm outside of their home e.g. with peers, in schools, in neighbourhoods or on-line which can affect their behaviour. We can adopt a contextual safeguarding approach by:

- Being aware of and seeking to understand the impact that these wider social contexts may be having on the children in our care.
- Creating a safe culture in the activity settings by, for example, discussing the implementation of policies and procedures that address peer-on-peer abuse and harmful attitudes.
- Promoting healthy relationships and attitudes to gender/ sexuality.
- Hotspot mapping to identify risky geographic areas on our sites
- Training on potential bias and stereotyped assumptions
- Being alert to and monitoring changes in students’ behaviour and/or attendance.

Recent research suggests that child on child abuse is one of the most common forms of abuse affecting children in the UK. For example, more than four in ten teenage schoolgirls aged between 13 and 17 in England have experienced sexual coercion (Barter et al 2015). Two thirds of contact sexual abuse experienced by children aged 17 or under was perpetrated by someone who was also aged 17 or under (Radford et al 2011) and over a third of young boys in England admitted to watching porn and having negative attitudes towards women (University of Bristol and University of Central Lancashire, 2015). All staff should understand, that even if there are no reports it does not mean it is not happening, it may be the case that it is just not being reported. Staff should therefore assume that child on child abuse is occurring and act accordingly.

If peer of peer abuse is suspected

- Report concerns verbally to the Designated Safeguarding Lead without delay
- A child is in immediate danger or at risk of harm a referral should be made by the DSL to Children’s Social Care and /or the police immediately.
- A record should be made using CPOMS (Child Protection Online Monitoring System).

The Designated Safeguarding Lead, in collaboration with the Head Office Safeguarding Team and/or Head Of Safeguarding will make a decision about whether the behaviour might indicate abuse and whether there is the need to contact/make a referral to Child Protective Services. Their discussion will agree the action e.g. first ensuring the safety and well-being of any child affected including the completion of a risk assessment, whether an investigation is needed, referral to other agencies e.g. the police, where a crime might have been committed, or Children and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS) or a specialist team dealing with harmful sexual behaviour.

Be aware that:

- The abuse may indicate wider safeguarding concerns for the children.

- The victim and perpetrator are both at risk -although the perpetrator may pose a risk to other children, they may also be at risk themselves and have unmet needs.
- Power, consent and choices play a role, dependent on the child and the situation they could appear to be making choices whilst not consenting.
- Provide on-going support for the victim for their safety and address any unmet needs, monitor the child's well-being within the organisation, engage with the child's parents.
- Disciplinary action may be appropriate for the perpetrator as they have to take responsibility and realise the seriousness of their behaviour. It gives a message that such behaviour will not be tolerated, it ensures the future safety and well-being of the victim and other children. Permanent exclusion should be a last resort and used where it is required for the safety of the victim and other children.

Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment between Children

- Child on child abuse can include two specific forms, known as Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment. Any response to these should fall within, and be consistent with our safeguarding procedures.
- Sexual Violence includes sexual offences which fall under the Sexual Offences Act 2003.
- Sexual Harassment refers to 'unwanted conduct of a sexual nature'. This can occur online (including, but not limited to non-consensual sharing of images, making sexual comments on social media) and offline (including but not limited to making sexual comments, sexual taunting or 'jokes', and physical contact, for example, brushing against someone deliberately or interfering with their clothes).

Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment can:

- occur between any two children, or a group of children against one individual or group;
- be perpetrated by a child of any age against a child of any age;
- be perpetrated by a child of any sexual orientation against a child of any sexual orientation;
- include behaviours that exist on an often progressive continuum and may overlap; and/or
- be online and offline (physical or verbal).
- sexual violence and sexual harassment are not acceptable, will never be tolerated, and are not an inevitable part of growing up

Responding to incidents involving sexual violence and/or sexual harassment

At this stage, we will generally inform parents or carers unless there are compelling reasons not to, for example, if informing a parent or carer is likely to put a child at additional risk. (KCSIE 2021). If the victim does not give consent to share information, staff may still lawfully share it. The basic safeguarding principle is: if a child is at risk of harm, is in immediate danger, or has been harmed, a referral should be made to local authority children's social care and the police if a crime has been committed. Ultimately, the designated safeguarding lead (or a deputy) will have to balance the victim's wishes against their duty to protect the victim and other children. At Super Camps we do not accept or tolerate sexual violence and sexual harassment and we have clear systems on how to respond and report abuse below.

Based on having all of the information, the DSL/safeguarding team will take the appropriate action, taking into consideration consent, power, victims wishes, frequency, risk to others and risk of exploitation.

When there has been a report of sexual violence, the designated safeguarding lead (or a deputy) should make an immediate risk and needs assessment this should be considered on a case-by-case basis.

The risk and needs assessment for a report of sexual violence should consider:

- the victim, especially their protection and support
- whether there may have been other victims
- the alleged perpetrator(s)
- all the other children, (and, if appropriate, adult students and staff)
- The time and location of the incident, and any action required to make the location safer.

Risk assessments should be recorded (paper or electronic) and should be kept under review

1. Consider the wishes of the victim and how they wish to proceed
2. Internally through pastoral support and 'teachable moments' – all evidence of our response should be recorded on CPOMS.
3. Early Help referral to be considered by DSL
4. Where a child has been harmed, is at risk of harm, or is in immediate danger, schools should make a referral to local children's Social Care.
5. Where a criminal offence is likely to have occurred a Police report will be needed

Up skirting

The Voyeurism Act 2019 states that "up skirting" is a criminal offence and typically refers to the taking of a photograph under someone's clothing without them knowing, with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification or to cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm."

Children with special educational needs and those who are or are perceived to be lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender are particularly vulnerable to this act.

Online Safety

Technology often provides the platform that may facilitate harm. All staff should be aware of the unique risks associated with online safety, and that technology is a significant component in many safeguarding and wellbeing issues. DSLs are responsible for overseeing online safety and should raise awareness in the staff group accordingly, including but not limited to, cyber-bullying, child sexual exploitation, radicalisation and sexual predation.

There are four main areas of risk:

Content: being exposed to illegal, inappropriate or harmful material.

Contact: being subjected to harmful online interaction with other users.

Conduct: personal online behaviour that increases the likelihood of (or causes) harm; for example, the making, sending and receiving of explicit images, or online bullying.

Commercial: risks such as online gambling, inappropriate advertising, phishing and or financial scams. If pupils, students or staff are at risk, please report it to the Anti-Phishing Working Group (<https://apwg.org/>).

How do we manage online safety in our sites?

Children are not allowed to have their mobile phones on them during the camp. If staff become aware of an online safety issue this must be reported on CPOMS and to the parents.

All incidents involving the sharing of nudes/semi nude imagery/videos should be responded to in line with this policy. When an incident involving comes to a member of staff's attention:

- The incident should be referred to the DSL as soon as possible;
- The DSL should hold an initial review meeting with appropriate staff to obtain as much information as possible taking into consideration consent, power, victims wishes, ongoing risks, and risk of exploitation;
- There should be interviews with the children involved (if appropriate, seek advise);
- Parents of each child should be informed at an early stage and involved in the process unless there is good reason to believe that involving parents would put the child at greater risk of harm and jeopardise any police/social care investigation; and
- At any point in the process, if there is a concern that a child has been harmed or is at risk of harm, a referral should be made to Children's Social Care and/or the Police immediately.

Additional information to support is provided in Annex D of KCSIE (2021).

Tackling extremism and radicalisation

Definitions

Radicalisation: A process by which someone adopts increasingly extreme political, social, or religious ideals and aspirations that reject or undermine the status quo, contemporary ideas and expressions of freedom of choice.

Extremism: Holding extreme political and religious views, the vocal or active opposition to the values of democracy, the rule of law (obeying the law), mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths, beliefs and those with no faith.

Terrorism is an action that endangers or causes serious violence to a person/people; causes serious damage to property; or seriously interferes or disrupts an electronic system. The use or threat must be designed to influence the government or to intimidate the public and is made for the purpose of advancing a political, religious or ideological cause.

Children who are susceptible to extremist ideology and radicalisation. Education providers, including but not exhaustive of schools and colleges, are subject to a duty under section 26 of the Counter Terrorism and Security Act 2015, in the exercise of their functions, to have “due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism”. This duty is known as the Prevent duty. For more information, please see the Preventing Extremism and Radicalisation Policy and Annex A of KCSIE 2021. All children and young people are vulnerable to extremist ideology and radicalisation.

Indicators of radicalisation or extremism

- Behaviour becoming more centred on extreme ideologies
- Loss of interest in friends and activities not associated with the extreme ideology, group or cause
- Changing their personal appearance to align with the extreme ideology, group or cause

- Possession of materials or symbols associated with the extreme ideology, group or cause
 - Attempts to recruit others to the extreme ideology, group or cause
 - Communication with others that suggest an affiliation with an extreme ideology, group or cause
 - Using insulting or derogatory language about another extreme ideology, group or cause
 - An increase in prejudice-related incidents committed by the individual for example
- physical or verbal assault
 - provocative behaviour
 - damage to property
 - derogatory name calling
 - possession of prejudice-related material
 - refusal to cooperate
 - supporting violence towards others

To safeguard against this all staff will

- Have an understanding of radicalisation and extremism.
- Complete the free government Prevent Awareness Training every two years.
- Be constantly vigilant to signs of radicalisation
- Be informed about issues affecting the local area and society by their Prevent Officer.
- Respond quickly when issues arise.
- Help children to understand the dangers of radicalisation and exposure to extremist views including knowing how to be resilient against them and what to do if they are experiencing them.
- Inform parents of this approach to keep children safe from harm.
- Suspend “professional disbelief” that radicalisation “could not happen here” and adopt a “professional inquisitive” approach.
- Be confident to challenge views and intervene as early as possible to safeguard children.

Procedure

- Discuss any concerns about a child with the Estate Designated Safeguarding Lead who, with the member of staff, will agree a course of action which could include referral to the Local Prevent Referral Team.
- A member of staff who does not agree with the decision and does not feel comfortable talking with their line manager can contact the Local Prevent Referral Team directly (see contact list) or use the whistleblowing policy.

Child sexual exploitation (CSE)

Definition

Child sexual exploitation is a form of child sexual abuse where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance in power to exploit the child

- Children may be exploited by an individual, several individuals working as an organised group, or by a gang.
- Grooming is the process of ‘preparing’ a child or young person for a sexual purpose.
- Grooming is often slow and subtle, continuing for several weeks or months and lulling the child or young person into a false sense of security. It always involves manipulation and deceit.
- Two types of grooming are recognised: street grooming which occurs in the community, and online grooming using technology including the internet and mobile telephones.

- By the time a child or young person realises that they are not having a 'real' relationship they have probably been seriously abused sexually, physically and psychologically. They will probably have withdrawn from family and friends and there will be a threat of distribution of indecent images of them to their family. Some children may have developed substance addictions as a coping strategy or because they have been given substances during their exploitation.

Child Criminal Exploitation (CCE) and Serious Violence

Definition

- where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance of power to coerce, control, manipulate or deceive a child into any criminal activity (a) in exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or (b) for the financial or other advantage of the perpetrator or facilitator and/or (c) through violence or the threat of violence.
- The victim may have been criminally exploited even if the activity appears consensual. CCE does not always involve physical contact; it can also occur through the use of technology. CCE can include children being forced to work in cannabis factories, forced to shoplift or pickpocket, or to threaten other young people. CCE also involves children and young people being coerced into moving drugs or money across the country; this is commonly referred to as County Lines.
- County Lines usually occurs through engaging children into gangs and using them to carry money or drugs from urban areas to suburban and rural areas, market and seaside towns. Further information on the signs of a child's involvement in county lines is available in guidance published by the Home Office

Procedure for CSE, CCE and Serious Violence

Staff will:

- All staff have had safeguarding training including information on sexual exploitation and grooming
- Help parents to understand any issues raised
- Contribute to inter-agency safeguarding and child protection arrangements
- Promote healthy and safe relationships
- Discuss concerns with the the Designated Safeguarding Lead and agree a course of action.
- Record all concerns on CPOMS

Sexually active youth

In law, a child is a person under the age of 18. Not all sexual activity involving a child is criminal, nor is it always abusive. Sexual activity involving a child under 13 is always a criminal offence and SuperCamps will always refer such concerns to the Police.

Procedure: Report your concerns to your DSL who will use their professional judgement, and seek advice from the Head Office Safeguarding Team to determine whether a concern about sexual activity involving a child over the age of 13 is exploitative or abusive, and whether the matter should be referred to Child Protective Services or the Police.

Female Genital mutilation (FGM)

A child who has undergone FGM should always be seen as a child protection issue.

Definition: “Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) comprises of all procedures involving partial or total removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs whether for cultural or non-therapeutic reasons.”

The UK Government has written advice and guidance on FGM that states:

“FGM is considered child abuse in the UK and a grave violation of the human rights of girls and women. In all circumstances where FGM is practised on a child it is a violation of the child’s right to life, their right to their bodily integrity, as well as their right to health. The UK Government has signed a number of international human rights laws against FGM, including the Convention on the Rights of the Child.”
“Girls are at particular risk of FGM during school summer holidays. This is the time when families may take their children abroad for the procedure. Many girls may not be aware that they may be at risk of undergoing FGM.”

It is the law that any ‘teacher’ in the UK reports known acts of FGM (or has evidence to suggest that FGM is likely to occur) to the Police via 101.

Indications that FGM has taken place

- Prolonged absence from camp with noticeable change in behaviour, especially after a return from holiday.
- Spending long periods of time away from the sessions during the day e.g. extended toilet breaks.
- Discomfort on return from toilets, sitting, or changing clothes
- Not visiting the toilet
- Talk of a significant family event, often involving only the female members of the family

Indications that a child is at risk of FGM

- The family comes from a community that is known to practice FGM, especially if there are elderly women present.
- In conversation a child may talk about FGM.
- A child may express anxiety (or excitement) about a special ceremony.
- The child may talk or have anxieties about forthcoming holidays to their country of origin.
- Parents or guardians may comment on overseas travel.
- If a girl has already undergone FGM and it comes to the attention of any professional, consideration needs to be given to any Child Protection implications e.g. for younger siblings, extended family members and a referral should be made to the Designated Safeguarding Lead who will decide on the most appropriate course of action.

Procedure

- All staff to undertake free government/other FGM training every two years.
- Take proactive action to protect and prevent girls from being forced to undertake FGM.

- Have a robust attendance policy and identify any unexplained absences from lessons and sessions.
- Staff should report any concerns to the Designated Safeguarding Lead who will seek advice from Children's Social Care and the Police via 101
- Record all intervention accurately on CPOMS (Child Protection Online Monitoring System).

Emotional Wellbeing and Mental Health

Where children have suffered abuse and neglect, or other potentially traumatic adverse childhood experiences, this can have a lasting impact throughout childhood, adolescence and into adulthood. It is key that staff are aware of how these children's experiences, can impact on their mental health, behaviour and education.

All staff should also be aware that deteriorating emotional wellbeing and escalation of mental health problems can, in some cases, be an indicator that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation. Please note, however, only appropriately trained health professionals should attempt to make a diagnosis of a mental health problem.

Staff, however, are well placed to observe children day-to-day and identify those whose behaviour suggests that they may be experiencing a mental health problem or be at risk of developing one. If staff have a mental health concern about a child that is also a safeguarding concern, immediate action should be taken, following their child protection policy and speaking to the DSL.

The Department of Education has published advice and guidance on Preventing and Tackling Bullying, and Mental Health and Behaviour in Schools. In addition, Public Health England has produced a range of resources to support staff to promote positive health, wellbeing and resilience among young people including its guidance, Promoting Children and Young People's Emotional Health and Wellbeing. Its resources include social media, forming positive relationships, smoking and alcohol.

Whilst all children should be protected, it is important that staff recognise that some groups of children are potentially at greater risk of harm (including online harm). For example, this vulnerable group includes, but is not limited to: those children with Special Educational Needs, young carers, those with a parent in prison, those identifying as LGBTQ+, and those living in homes characterised by domestic abuse and/or parental acrimony.

Self-harm

Definition

- It is behaviour in which deliberate harm is caused to one's own body. There is a higher incidence amongst children with special educational needs.
- It can happen when a child is dealing with difficult experiences and emotions e.g. being bullied, difficult relationships with family or friends, experiencing depression or anxiety, having low self-esteem, experiencing some form of abuse. They harm themselves as a way of coping and relieving tension. Examples include cutting, picking skin, swallowing inedible objects or hazardous substances, taking an overdose of drugs, burning or scolding, hair-pulling, hitting parts of the body. It can also include eating disorders and excessive physical activity.
- Factors relating to the individual (depression, low self-esteem, substance abuse), their family (unreasonable expectations, abuse, parental relationships), their social situation (difficulty socialising, loneliness, being bullied), can contribute to making a child self-harming.

Indications that self-harm has taken place should be taken seriously and could include:

- Becoming withdrawn
- Wearing long sleeves during warm weather
- Avoiding friends and family
- Lower academic attainment
- Unexplained cuts, bruises, burns
- Changes in clothing
- Abuse of substances
- Changes in eating or sleeping habits
- Changes in behaviour and mood
- Expressing feelings of failure
- Talking about self-harm and suicide

Procedure

Maintain a supportive and open attitude, regardless of how you might feel about what you are hearing or seeing. Be non-judgmental. The fact that the child is talking to you shows that they are courageous and trust you.

Do not promise to keep what you are being told confidential.

Report the incident to the Designated Safeguarding Lead who will decide the best course of action which may include:

- the immediate safety of the child is of paramount importance; if they are acutely distressed, ensure that they are safe and that an adult remains with them at all times.
- if a child has self-harmed whilst attending a Bushcraft activity, a first aider should be called immediately.
- arranging professional assistance if needed e.g. nurse, doctor, social care
- informing the parents of what has occurred unless to do so will heighten the risk of harm to the child, or the child escalating their self-harm (always seek advice)
- removing the child from activities if remaining on site would cause them more distress.
- contacting the Group Leader and/or the agent
- recording on CPOMS noting what the child said, any concerns, dates and times, details of who was informed and what action was taken alerting the Managing Director and Active Learning Group Head Of Safeguarding, and verbally informing Head Office.
- offering emotional support to the peer group, if they have been affected, as appropriate.

Domestic Abuse

Children can be victims of domestic abuse. They may see, hear, or experience the effects of abuse at home and/or suffer domestic abuse in their own intimate relationships (teenage relationship abuse). The cross-government definition of domestic violence and abuse is that it may be a single incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive, threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are, or have been, intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality. The abuse can encompass but is not limited to: psychological; physical; sexual; financial; and emotional. Exposure to domestic abuse and/or violence can have a serious, detrimental and long term impact on a child's health, wellbeing, development and ability to learn. In some cases, a child may blame themselves for the abuse or may have had to leave the family home as a result.

The Domestic Abuse Act 2021 received Royal Assent on 29 April 2021. The Act introduces the first ever statutory definition of domestic abuse and recognises the impact of domestic abuse on children, as victims in their own right. Under the statutory definition, both the person who is carrying out the behaviour and the person to whom the behaviour is directed towards must be aged 16 or over and they must be “personally connected” (as defined in section 2 of the 2021 Act).

National Domestic Abuse Helpline

Refuge runs the National Domestic Abuse Helpline, which can be called free of charge and in confidence, 24 hours a day on 0808 2000 247. Its website provides guidance and support for potential victims, as well as those who are worried about friends and loved ones. It also has a form through which a safe time from the team for a call can be booked.

Definitions

Types of abuse and possible indicators

The term 'abuse' is often used as an umbrella term. All staff should be aware of indicators of abuse and neglect so that they are able to identify cases of children who may be in need of help or protection. Abuse and safeguarding issues are rarely standalone events that can be covered by one definition or label. In most cases, multiple issues will overlap with one another.

Abuse

Abuse is a form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm or by failing to act to prevent harm. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Harm can include ill treatment that is not physical as well as the impact of witnessing ill treatment of others. They may be abused by an adult or adults or by another child or children.

Abuse
Physical abuse	Emotional abuse	Sexual abuse	Neglect

Neglect

The persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and psychological needs which is likely to result in serious impairments to their health and development. This may involve a parent or carer failing to provide food, shelter, clothing or a failure to protect from physical harm or danger or allow access to medical treatment. (Keeping Children Safe in Education, Updated 18 January 2021)

Obvious signs of lack of care including:

- Problems with personal hygiene
- Constant hunger
- Inadequate clothing
- Poor relationship with peers
- Emaciation
- Untreated medical problems
- Repetitive discipline issues, lateness, compulsive stealing

Physical Abuse

Actual or likely physical injury or failure to prevent physical injury or suffering to a child including hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child. (Keeping Children Safe in Education, Updated 18 January 2021)

- Physical signs do not tally with the given account of the occurrence
- Conflicting /unrealistic explanations of the cause
- Repeated injuries
- Bruising in unusual places
- Symmetry in injuries
- Delay in reporting or seeking medical advice.
- Unexpected covering up (e.g. long sleeves when previously short –sleeves were worn)
- Reluctance to take part in activities requiring exposing body, e.g. swimming or some sports

Sexual Abuse

Involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration or non-penetrative acts. May also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children. (Keeping Children Safe in Education, Updated 18 January 2021)

- Sudden changes in behaviour
- Displays of affection which are sexual and age inappropriate
- Tendency to cling or need constant reassurance
- Tendency to cry easily
- Regression to younger behaviour (thumb sucking, acting like a baby etc)
- Unexplained gifts or money
- Wetting/soiling day or night

Emotional Abuse

The persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person.

It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyber bullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone. For the first time children are legally defined as victims of domestic abuse if related to the people involved, or witness/hear, or if they experience effects of the abuse. (Keeping Children Safe in Education, Updated 18 January 2021)

- Rejection
- Low self-esteem
- Being withdrawn/ isolation
- Rocking, hair twisting, thumb sucking
- Child being blamed for actions of adults
- Child being used as a carer for younger siblings
- Affection and basic emotional care giving/warmth persistently absent or withheld
- Being angry and aggressive
- Swinging between withdrawn and angry/aggressive in short space of time
- Self-harm (in extreme cases)
